Why Golf in Switzerland?

Switzerland has some great golf courses! A fact that is still well hidden from the public domain. The oldest Golf Course in Switzerland, Engadine Golf Club in St. Moritz dates back to 1893. Many golfers may be familiar with the Omega European Masters (European Tour) that is held annually at Crans-sur-Sierre since 1948, some with the Swiss Seniors Open (European Seniors Tour) that has a long-standing history in Bad Ragaz since 1997. Acclaim as international championship venues also have Gerre-Losone (Ladies European Tour 2006-2012), Geneva (Challenge Tour since 1989), Sempach (Challenge Tour since 2010) and Wylihof (Challenge Tour 2006-2009). And, some of the world's most renowned architects have left their marks here: Pete Dye, Jack Nicklaus, Robert Trent Jones Sr. and II, Jeremy Pern, Severiano Ballesteros, Donald and Peter Harradine plus Kurt Rossknecht to name just a few.
